Nolting—Buford.

The wedding of Miss Mary Ross Buford, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Buford of Shiloh, Va., to Mr. Frederick Ewing Nolting, son of Mr. E. O. Nolting, also of this city, was celebrated at 8:30 o'clock last evening in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Robert W. Farrah, the rector of the church, officiating.

The floral decorations at the church were carried out in Jonquils and marguerites, that arched the aisles and were backed against the palms in the chancel.

Miss Katy T. Buford was maid of honor, and a charming group of bridesmaids included Misses Sally Hobson, Sue Spelman, Mary Ross, of Lexington, Va.; Berlie Nolting, Groveton, Nottling; Miss Lucy B. Duhiring, of Philadelphia; Mrs. I. Newton Vaughn and Miss Edith Dunn, of New York.

The bride came in with her father. She was crowned in white duchess satin, wore a tulle veil and carried white violets and lilies-of-the-valley.

The maid of honor was in yellow crepe de chine. Her flowers were white lilies. The bridesmaids had on white muirs, green sashes, and carried baskets of marguerites.

Two little flower maidens and nieces of the bride, Isabel and Elizabeth Scott, had baskets of Jonquils and led the bridal procession.

Mr. Carl H. Nolting was best man and the groomsmen, Messrs. Hugh Antrim, William A. Townes, S. C. Donnan, A. S. Buford, Jr., W. E. Buford, W. H. Hahn, John B. Milner, and William Horn, of East Orange, N. J.

A very handsome reception was given in the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. The entire lower floor of the house was thrown open and beautifully decorated in Southern style, with palms and flowers. Among the guests from a distance present were:

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Manly, of Winston, N. C.; Colonel J. de H. Ross, Miss Ross, Lexington, Va.; Dr. and Mrs. Junius Lynch, Miss Lynch, Norfolk; Dr. and Mrs. Duhiring, Philadelphia; Miss Lucy Disston, Philadelphia; Mr. W. A. Higinbotham, Jr., of Groveton, Nottling; Mr. William A. Cross, of Philadelphia; Mr. William Taylor Thorne, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. T. Nelson Strother, of Baltimore, Md.

Tucker—Boyd.

Miss Elsie Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Boyd, was married to Dr. Beverly Randolph Tucker, son of Mrs. Fanny Crump Tucker, at 6 P. M. yesterday in Second Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Russell Cecil, D. D., assisted by Bishop Beverly D. Tucker, officiating.

The wedding march from Lohengrin as played as the bride party entered the church. During the ceremony, Mr. Robert Philfer rendered a violin obligato, and the notes of Mendelssohn's wedding march sounded the recessional.

Miss Lillias Blair Cary was maid of honor and Mr. William Crump Tucker best man. Other attendants included Messrs. Hunsdon Cary, John B. Lightfoot, Jr., John Randolph Tucker and Richard Tucker.

The bride walked to the altar with her father, who gave her away. She wore white messaline trimmed in Venice lace, pointed ancestral lace, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. The maid of honor was in delicate green messaline. Her flowers were pink roses. Dr. and Mrs. Tucker will go abroad for a six months' tour.

Scott—Hawkins.

A wedding in which many Richmond people were deeply interested was celebrated at 8 o'clock last evening when Miss Glenn May Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Hawkins, of Newark, N. J., was married to Dr. Robert Hunter Scott, son of Mr. Albert A. Scott, of No. 261 East Grace Street, this city. The ceremony, which was witnessed by a large and fashionable assemblage, was performed in Roseville Presbyterian Church, Newark, the Rev. Dr. W. V. Chapman officiating. The church was elaborately decorated in lilies, azaleas, daisies and palms, and the music was played by Mr. Courrier.

Miss Katherine Whitstone, of Philadelphia, Pa., attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore white chiffon

The Lost Eden

By WILLIAM WATSON.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

But yesterday was Man from Eden driven.
 His dream, wherein he dreamed himself the first
 Of creatures, fashioned for eternity.
 This was the Eden that he shared with Eve.

Eve, the adventurous soul within his soul!
 The sleepless, the unslaked! She showed him where Amidst his pleasure hung the bough whose fruit
 Is disenchantment and the perishing
 Of many glorious errors. And he saw
 His paradise how narrow; and he saw—
 He, who had well-nigh deemed the world itself
 Of less significance and majesty
 Than his own part and business in it!—how Little that part, and in how great a world.
 And an imperative world-thrust drove him forth,
 And the gold gates of Eden clanged behind.

Never shall he return: for he hath sent
 His spirit abroad among the infinitudes,
 And may no more to the ancient pales recall
 The traveled feet. But oftentimes he feels
 The intolerable vastness bow him down,
 The awful homeless spaces scare his soul;
 And half-regretful he remembers then
 His Eden lost, as some grey mariner
 May think of the far fields where he was bred,
 And woody ways unbathed-on by the sea,
 Though more familiar now the ocean-paths
 Gleam, and the stars his fathers never knew.

cloth and lace, over delicate pink, and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids, who were in fetching toilets of pink chiffon cloth over pink silk, had bouquets of pink tulips. They were Misses Rose Nichols, Florence Herold, Grace Blevins and Laura Edna Hannans. Her flower girls, Misses Helena Hawkins and Bertha Barel, carried baskets of daisies and looked charming in white and pink.

Mr. Schuyler Van Rensselaer Brundage, of New York City, was best man, and the ushers: Mr. John Keegan, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Samuel Wheatstone, of Philadelphia; DeWitt Preyer and Mr. Adrian Barel, of Newark, N. J.

The bride came in with her father. She was elegantly attired in emerald-green chiffon, empire gown over duchess satin, with a garniture of lace on the corsage. Her tulle veil hung from a coronet of lilies of the valley and her flowers were lilies and white orchids.

A reception, for which several hundred invitations had been issued, was given in the home of the bride's parents, on Roseville Avenue, Newark, after the church ceremonial. The drawing-room, where the bride party stood, was decorated with palms and Easter lilies. The dining-room was in pink; the library in yellow; the hall being wreathed with Southern smilax. An orchestra played choice selections during reception hours and a large number of out-of-town guests were present.

After an extended bridal trip, Dr. and Mrs. Scott will come to Richmond to make their home here, where Dr. Scott is very popular from a social and professional standpoint.

Large Audience.

The operetta, "Red Riding Hood," was played to a juvenile audience that crowded Belvidere Hall to its utmost capacity yesterday afternoon.

As the curtain rose upon Red Riding Hood's cottage home, Miss Emily Wade, with her chorus of school girls, clad in pretty white frocks and picture hats, sang the beautiful "Bubble Chorus" with charming effect.

Miss Mary Page Grymes, as Mother, and Miss Mary Covington Evans captured the audience with their duet and then the curtain went down upon a scene that was all too short.

The second act contains the beautiful choruses of the play, when violets, bluebells, flower maidens, rainbows, fairies and wavelets are introduced, one after the other, in a bewildering array of pretty children, and gay costumes. Special mention is due to the tiny violets, who sing "Three Little Kittens," and cannot fail to take the audience by storm. The dance of the flower maidens is another remarkably pretty and graceful affair, and reflects great credit on Mrs. Fannie Thaw Grymes, who trained the girls in this feature.

The hit of the entire performance comes, however, when Red Riding Hood, lying on a grassy mound with a fairy's wand above her head, is wooed to slumber by a soft violin melody played by seven-year-old Maria Adkins. Little Miss Adkins was obliged to respond to an encore yesterday.

Dr. W. O. Cowardin adds greatly to the effect of the beautiful "Bird Song" of the Mother in the second act by his sweet flute accompaniment. The operetta will be repeated this evening at 8 o'clock, and again tomorrow evening.

Goode—DuVal.

A pretty home wedding took place Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, when Miss Nannie DuVal became the bride of Mr. R. E. Goode. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride, No. 128 South Laurel Street, by the Rev. J. B. Hutson, of Pine Street Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Criddle, of Manchester.

The parlors were prettily decorated in palms, Easter lilies and cut-flowers, the bride party standing under an arch of greenery. Miss Daisy Hutson, of the piano. She played the "Flower Song" and "O Promise Me," before the bride. The bride party, the "Bridal Chorus" and "Sunbeams and Shadows."

The bride was attended by her niece, Miss Daisy Goode, who wore a beautiful gown of cream net over silk and carried blush carnations tied with pale pink gauze. Little Miss Virginia Goode, in a dainty white organza frock, made a pretty picture as ring-bearer. Little Misses Mary Markham and Dora Hetzer, also in white, held the train.

The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Luther DuVal. She wore an elegant going-away gown of dark blue and carried Bride roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Goode left at once for New York, and a trip along the New England coast. They will be at home after May 1st, at No. 126 South Laurel Street.

Cards Out.

Cards have been received in Richmond for the marriage of Miss Sue Evelyn Thornton, daughter of Mrs. S. A. Thornton, of Republican Grove, Va., to Mr. Thomas Jackson Hagley, of Richmond. The wedding will take place Wednesday evening, April 17th, at 8 o'clock in the Baptist Church at Republican Grove, Va.

Mundy—Gibson.

The marriage of Mrs. Lucille Rogers Gibson to Mr. George P. Mundy, assistant secretary to Governor Swann, took place very quietly yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the home of the Rev. Dr. W. R. L. Smith, No. 801 West Grace Street, Dr. Smith officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Mundy will spend their honeymoon in North Carolina and will be at home in Richmond after April 15th.

The bride is a most charming young woman and has a host of friends. Mr. Mundy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mundy, of No. 317 North Twelfth Street, and has held a responsible position as assistant secretary to the governor for several years, during which time he has won many friends and has discharged his duties with promptness and accuracy.

Nursery Board to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the board of the Belle Bryan Day Nursery today at 1 P. M. All members are urged to be present, as it is an important meeting.

Lanier the Subject.

A large number of ladies took part in the discussion of the life and works of Sidney Lanier at the meeting of the Literary Round Table at Woman's Club yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. John Hunter was chairman of the meeting and opened the discussion with a brief account of the poet's life and a number of extracts from his letters.

Miss Bessie Daniel read with beautiful interpretation Lanier's poem, "Sunrise." Miss Maria Blair contributed much to the pleasure of the afternoon by her statement of the poet's plans, feelings and sympathies. Miss Katherine Stiles and others also spoke with enthusiasm and interest, adding bits of his personal history that proved very enlightening.

Fashionable Audience.

A fashionable audience greeted the appearance of Mrs. Leslie Carter in the play of "Du Barry" at the Academy of Music Tuesday night.

Among the box occupants were Dr. and Mrs. George Ben Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Eppa Hurton, Jr., Miss Maude Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hotchkiss, Jr., Mr. Blanchard Forbes, Mr. J. T. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Waller Morton, and Mrs. James Allison. A party from the University College of Medicine filled two boxes, gayly decorated with their pennants.

University German Dance.

The Charlottesville Progress of April 2d has the following item of interest to the friends of Richmond girls participating in the gaieties of Easter week at the University. The Progress says:

The University German Club german, held at the Fayerweather Gymnasium last night, proved to be a brilliant beginning of "Easter Week" gaieties at the University.

Heavy white fish net was artistically draped over the ceiling of the ball room, and the walls were hung with white bunting—making a very effective background for the many beautiful costumes of delicate evening shades.

A bank of luxurious palms furnished a fitting background for the stringed orchestra, which rendered a very enjoyable program.

Mr. Stuart Robertson led many intricate and beautiful figures, which won hearty applause from the packed gallery of onlookers.

Chaperoning the german were Mrs. Mickey Woods, Mrs. Minor Lile, Mrs. E. Reinhold Rogers, Mrs. William M. Thornton, Mrs. E. M. Page, Mrs. C. M. Bolton, Mrs. Gaylord Clark, of Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Russell Brand, Mrs. Raleigh Minor, Mrs. R. H. H. Dabney, Mrs. John Atkinson, Mrs. Dan Harmon, Mrs. C. A. Graves, Mrs. Fred Page, Mrs. Carter Walker, of Orange.

The names of Miss Nora Langhorne, Fanny Grandy, Page Royall, Rosalie Jones, Fanny Hobson, May Carmichael, Sarah Hamilton and Margaret Gill appear among the girls dancing. Among the young men from Richmond mentioned are Messrs. Frank Christian, L. H. Boshier and J. S. Wingo.

Invitations Issued.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hallahan have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Mamie, to Mr. J. W. S. Matheny, the ceremony to take place on Wednesday afternoon, April 10th, at 2:30 o'clock in the home of the bride, No. 311 East Broad Street.

Chapter Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of Old Dominion Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held yesterday at noon in the home of the regent, Miss Leola Clark Atkinson, No. 811 East Grace Street.

Reports from Mrs. Frank Cunningham with regard to a eucure party given for the benefit of the chapter, showed a net profit of fourteen dollars.

Mrs. H. A. Atkinson, the treasurer, reported that a contribution had been made toward the repairs on old Bruton Church, Williamsburg.

Mrs. A. T. King read an interesting historical paper. She and Mrs. Eljah Baker reported that many relics had been collected for the exhibit at Jamestown Exposition.

The chapter decided to furnish dimity curtains and hangings for George Washington's bedroom at Mt. Vernon. The request came from Mrs. Charles B. Ball, regent of the Mt. Vernon Association.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Whist Tournament.

The regular monthly whist tournament will be played at Woman's Club tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock. An enjoyable evening is anticipated.

Miller—Edmonds.

Among the many Easter weddings which took place in the Capital City as the result of Mrs. Gill's annual excursion was that of Mr. John P. Miller, Jr., and Miss Mary Kathleen Edmonds, both of this city. The ceremony was performed in the parlors of the Rev. J. B. McLaughlin. Their marriage was a complete surprise to their friends, who had not the slightest idea regarding their marriage until apprised of the fact by telegraph.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Wm. McGee Edmonds, of Lynchburg, Va., and the groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Miller, of the West End. Mr. Miller is connected with the Richmond Stove Works, where he is held in high esteem. The youthful couple was accompanied to Washington by Mr. Harry Harrison, who planned their elopement. Mr. Miller left home on Easter morning, leaving his friends under the impression that he was going fishing, but in reality to meet his affianced at Elba Station, where she was in waiting with his friend, Mr. Harrison. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will make their home for the present in the West End.

Old Fogies Never Advertise.

An Old Fogie is a back number, a relic of stagnation, a dead one. He never advertises. No one blames him. You wouldn't want to advertise if you were an Old Fogie. It is the progressive, live, energetic, wide awake, over on the jump, busy chap who advertises, and the public knows it. He can do things for the public, and he tells the public so. The public says all right, go ahead and do them. He makes good and wins success. Old Fogie couldn't do that.

That is why the public believes in an advertised article. If you are in the Old Fogie class, GET OUT. Use some newspaper or magazine space. Your goods possess merit. Advertise them. Get a good agency, such as the Massengale Advertising Agency, of Richmond, Va., and Atlanta, Ga., to help you. Correspond with them. They will furnish cheerfully estimates on any sort of campaign, no matter of what magnitude. They place advertising everywhere.
